

Spring 2020 Community Outreach Intern

REDO is located near the Salt Lake City Airport and offers internships to gain skills in environmental outreach and education. REDO's main mission is to educate communities to recycle right. In Utah, an average of 20-30% of residential recycling is disposed of at the landfill. This is due to the public contaminating their recycling with unrecyclable items like food and plastic bags. The Community Outreach Intern educates the public about how to recycle right by planning and attending community events and managing REDO's social media presence. This position reports to REDO's Executive Director. To learn more about REDO's work, visit www.redoright.org.

Responsibilities Include:
